

Excellence Without Compromise
Bang & Olufsen High Fidelity Components

A quality stereo system must be much more than an assemblage of components which reproduce sound with some degree of fidelity. A system must also be engineered so that all parts function as an integrated whole; the performance of each component having an exact relationship to that of the others. This concept finds expression in the Beosystem 3000 and 4000. Finely balanced systems both electronically and aesthetically.
